AUTOMOTIVE WASTE RECYCLING AND DISPOSAL

Pollution Prevention
The Environmental Ethic
of Lancaster County

Please do not mix wastes.

April 2004

Diesel Fuel, Brake Fluid, and Kerosene Recycling

Do not mix with motor oil. (Sites listed under Oil Collection Sites might take these materials. Call first.)
Can take to Household Hazardous Waste Collections (watch for announcements in your local newspaper or in special fliers from the LLCHD).

Car Wax, Polish, Fuel Additives, Carburetor Cleaner, and Other Solvents

Use up, give away to a friend or neighbor, or resell at a garage sale. Solid, non-hazardous car waxes or polishes can be disposed in the trash. As a last resort, take to a Household Hazardous Waste Collection.

Antifreeze Recyclers

Recycling is preferred to disposal. However, antifreeze can be poured down sanitary sewer (but not into a septic tank or storm drain) with at least three gallons of water added per each gallon (or partial gallon) of antifreeze. Do not dispose of more than 10 gallons of water and antifreeze mixture per day. Oil Collection Sites might also take these materials. Call first.

Used Crankcase Oil and Oil Filters

To prevent pollution, consider having your oil changed at one of the collection sites listed at the right. This decision takes the storage and disposal problems out of your hands. If you choose to change your own oil, take it to an oil-recycling site. The service stations listed on the right offer an oil-recycling service to the public. We encourage people to respect this privilege by following these simple guidelines.

- ◆ Do not leave oil at service stations after business hours.
- ◆ Do not dump used oil on the ground, in the storm sewer, into the street, or in the garbage.
- ◆ Call the collector to find out if used oil is still accepted and if a fee is charged. (Collectors may also accept other automotive wastes; call before bringing any materials to any site.)
- ◆ Protect your hands and skin from used oil. Wearing a pair of latex gloves works great.
- ◆ Keep oil free of contaminants such as gasoline, water, antifreeze, dirt, leaves, debris, and other solids.
- ◆ Remove and puncture the oil filter. Drain it into a container for 24 hours before placing it in the trash.
- ◆ Drain your oil into a clean container that has a lid. The container should be clearly labeled, "used oil."
- ◆ Containers should not hold more than five gallons of oil.
- ◆ Take the empty container home with you—reuse it or put it in the household garbage.
- ◆ Remember to thank the business that accepts your used oil for this valuable service to your community and your environment.

Tires

Tires cannot be taken to the landfill. Residents can have their waste hauler collect scrap tires for recycling, or haul them to the 48th Street Transfer Station (which charges a disposal fee, call 441-8104 for information).
